COLUMBUS — Earlier today, Gov. John Kasich named former Health Policy Institute of Ohio interim director Greg Moody as director of the newly created Governor's Office of Health Transformation.

"HPIO would like to congratulate Greg on being appointed to this vital position," said HPIO President Amy Rohling McGee. "HPIO is very familiar with Greg's work and is confident that he and his team will do an excellent job in this role.

"The new position overseeing the state's Medicaid program will have tremendous influence on health care for many Ohioans and we look forward to working with Greg and the rest of the Kasich administration to find ways to improve the health of all Ohioans."

The Health Policy Institute of Ohio is an independent, nonpartisan organization that forecasts health trends, analyzes key health issues, and communicates current research to Ohio policymakers, legislators, and others. For more information on the Institute, call (614) 224-4950 or go to <http://www.hpio.net>.
